ATLANTIC LEAGUE.

As a result of yesterday's games Scranton and Reading maintain the Atlantic league lead, and the Philadelphia Athletics are now at the very lowest rung of the ladder. It took Scranton ten innings yesterday to defeat Allentown, but heavy hitting did the trick and the local boys came out triumphant, having a patched up team in the field at that, at the end, on account of the removal of Second Baseman O'Brien and Kennedy from the game on account of their becoming a trifle too loquacious. Elmira won its first game, hitting the Wilkes-Barre pitchers almost at will and trouncing the Barons soundly. Newark doubled Jersey City and Reading took its third game from the Athletics. The averages follow:

THE THIRD STRAIGHT.

Scranton Won from Allentown in an Exciting Contest—Kennedy and P. O'Brien Put Out of Game.

Allentown, May 2.—Allentown and Scranton met today for the first time and Scranton won out in a ten-inning game. Umpire Phelan put P. O'Brien and Kennedy out of the game and in a tilt with Doherty fell or was pushed over.

Scranton won on consecutive hitting with one man out.

Scranton won on consecutive hitting with one man out. Doherty's scoop of a liner, on which play he touched the runner, was the fielding feature. Score:

Elmira Swamps Wilkes-Barre.

Elmira, May 2.—Costly error at critical place and a bad break up in the seventh cost Wilkes-Barre a game this afternoon. It took the visitors just well up with the game with perhaps a shade the better of the feeling. Mayor Flood pitched the first ball over the plate.

Well Played Game at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, May 2.—The Athletics opened the Atlantic league season on the National league grounds here today with the Reading club. Although the Athletics outplayed and outbatted their opponents, the element of luck was so much against them that they could not get the victory.

Base Ball Chat.

The boys certainly had their batting clothes on yesterday. Elmira made a fine showing in center field and batted with terrific force. The Delehanty family divided six hits among the three of them yesterday. Something must have been the matter with McIntyre. The big fellow didn't get a hit.

It seems to be a specialty of Dick Knott to get hit with the ball. He manages to bring his form in contact with the sphere every game. Ralph Seybold, last year with Richmond, who was considered the heaviest hitter in the Atlantic league, was the first American league batsman to make a home run.

And the pirate was just out of the game! And the mild mannered Kennedy, who had been a member of a decidedly pugacious team of mind.

Jimmy Dunn played a great game against Miller and Kibben of the Worcester team, and three singles were his batting record, and in the field he accepted eight chances. He also made two double plays.

Patrick Donovan, of St. Louis right fielder, is a big favorite in Pittsburgh as the result of his long service as captain of the Pirates. Arrangements were made to give him a great welcome yesterday, and $200 in cash and a gold watch and chain were secured for him by admiring friends.

The game between Rochester and Worcester of the Eastern League, Householder, Rochester's big first baseman, landed on the curves and Kibben of the Worcester team, for a quartette of hits which counted for eleven bases. They were a single, a double and two home runs.

"Doggie" Miller, the ex-National leaguer, covered himself with disgrace in Monday's game between Dayton and Fort Wayne. He took exception to one of Umpire Cooke's decisions and instead of protesting, he was put out of the game and his action very much disapproved by the crowd. In the same game Catcher Bensen of the Dayton team, had a great batting record, hitting out a single, three doubles and a home run.

Don't get away from the fact that Scranton has won the Doherty trophy. It is given credit for being—Wilkes-Barre Record.

Right you are, Mr. Merrill. Doherty's work last year was indeed a masterpiece. It was at Bill Coughlin, the crack third baseman of the Atlantic league, who has hit the ball hard so far, and everything suggests that his particular corner of the Scranton infield will be particularly well taken care of.

THEATRICAL.

"Lord Byron."

It was a happy inspiration which led Miss Rita Louise Johnson to select the picturesque personality of the English poet as the central figure of a play which aims to present in a series of scenes the life of the poet in the Atlantic. The play is a masterpiece of dramatic construction, and the public has recently been treated to a most interesting and instructive "revue" of the poet's life, which is a masterpiece of dramatic construction, and the public has recently been treated to a most interesting and instructive "revue" of the poet's life.

As treated in the play produced at the Lyceum theater by Mr. James Young and company last evening, Lord Byron offers in combination the qualities of poet and dramatist, and of those of a resourceful man of affairs. Possibilities are revealed which indicate that he narrowly missed becoming one of the great statesmen of his time, and we are led to believe that had an earlier environment been better adapted to the cultivation of his more substantial endowments, the courageous, the liberal, the half inspired bard, history would have had to record for him a career as great in constructive achievement as that of the poet.

How true this picture is to fact need not concern the people of this generation. It is enough to know that the Lord Byron of the play makes a characteristic full of dramatic and dramatic possibilities, which Mr. Young has developed with artistic intuition and skill.

Scranton was the production of "Hamlet" made four years ago at the age of 21. During the intervening years he has had the advantage of study and companionship with some of the great actors and stage managers of the day, including an extended engagement under the immediate supervision of the late Augustin Daly. The benefit of this broadening course of professional instruction was visible last night in the greater confidence of his workmanship and in the fine quality of the values and proportions of the stage play. The audience was made aware of the play that it was in the presence of an artist. As the play developed from climax to climax the increasing demand upon his interpretative skill were satisfied in each instance and the effect wrought out in the death scene in the concluding act was one which many an older and more famous player might well have envied. In scenic features, costuming and the various accessories, the production was among the best of the season.

The Sawtelle Company.

The Sawtelle Dramatic Company presented "May Blossom" at the Academy of Music yesterday afternoon, and "On the Hudson" last night. This afternoon the bill will be "The Song of the Mine," and tonight, "Daughter's Victory." After tonight's performance there will be a cake walk open to local amateurs only.
